DETAILED ACTIONElection

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

First Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect a single species of medicine unstable to moisture (see Claims 1, 7-13). If Applicant elects formula (I') of claim 8, Applicant is further required to elect a specific group for each of R^0 , R^1 , R^2 , R^3 , Y, and C'. The disclosed medicines have different molecular structures and exhibit different chemical and pharmacological behaviors.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-6, 14-24 are generic to the above.

Second Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect whether or not the main component of the capsule is a gelatin containing polyethylene glycol (see Claims 3 and 6). A capsule having a main component of polyethylene glycol will exhibit different chemical and pharmacological behaviors than one without.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-2, 7-24 are generic to the above.

Third Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect whether or not the main component of the capsule is a water-soluble polysaccharide (see Claim 4). A capsule having a main component of a water-soluble polysaccharide will exhibit different chemical and pharmacological behaviors than one without.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-2, 7-24 are generic to the above.

Fourth Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect whether or not the main component of the capsule is pullulan (see Claims 5-6). A capsule having a main component of pullulan will exhibit different chemical and pharmacological behaviors than one without.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-2, 7-24 are generic to the above.

Fifth Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect whether or not the capsule preparation comprises at least two solid preparations selected from fine granules, granules and tablets in combination (see Claim 16). A capsule with at least two solid preparations will exhibit different pharmacological behaviors than one with only one solid preparation.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-15 are generic to the above.

Sixth Election Requirement of Six

Applicant is required to elect whether or not the capsule preparation comprises a coating (see Claims 18-24). A capsule with a coating will exhibit different pharmacological behaviors than one without a coating.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-17 are generic to the above.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
